LINDEN HIGH SCHOOL

LINDEN NEW JERSEY

Few people in the world today realize the importance of hands in their everyday life. We use our hands for almost everything we do to pick up a pencil, to throw a ball, to catch a ball, to shake hands to do so many things.

This is the reason we have taken hands at work as our theme for the 1957 Cynosure. As your hands turn the pages one by one you will see the use of hands in both your school work and your extra-curricular activities.

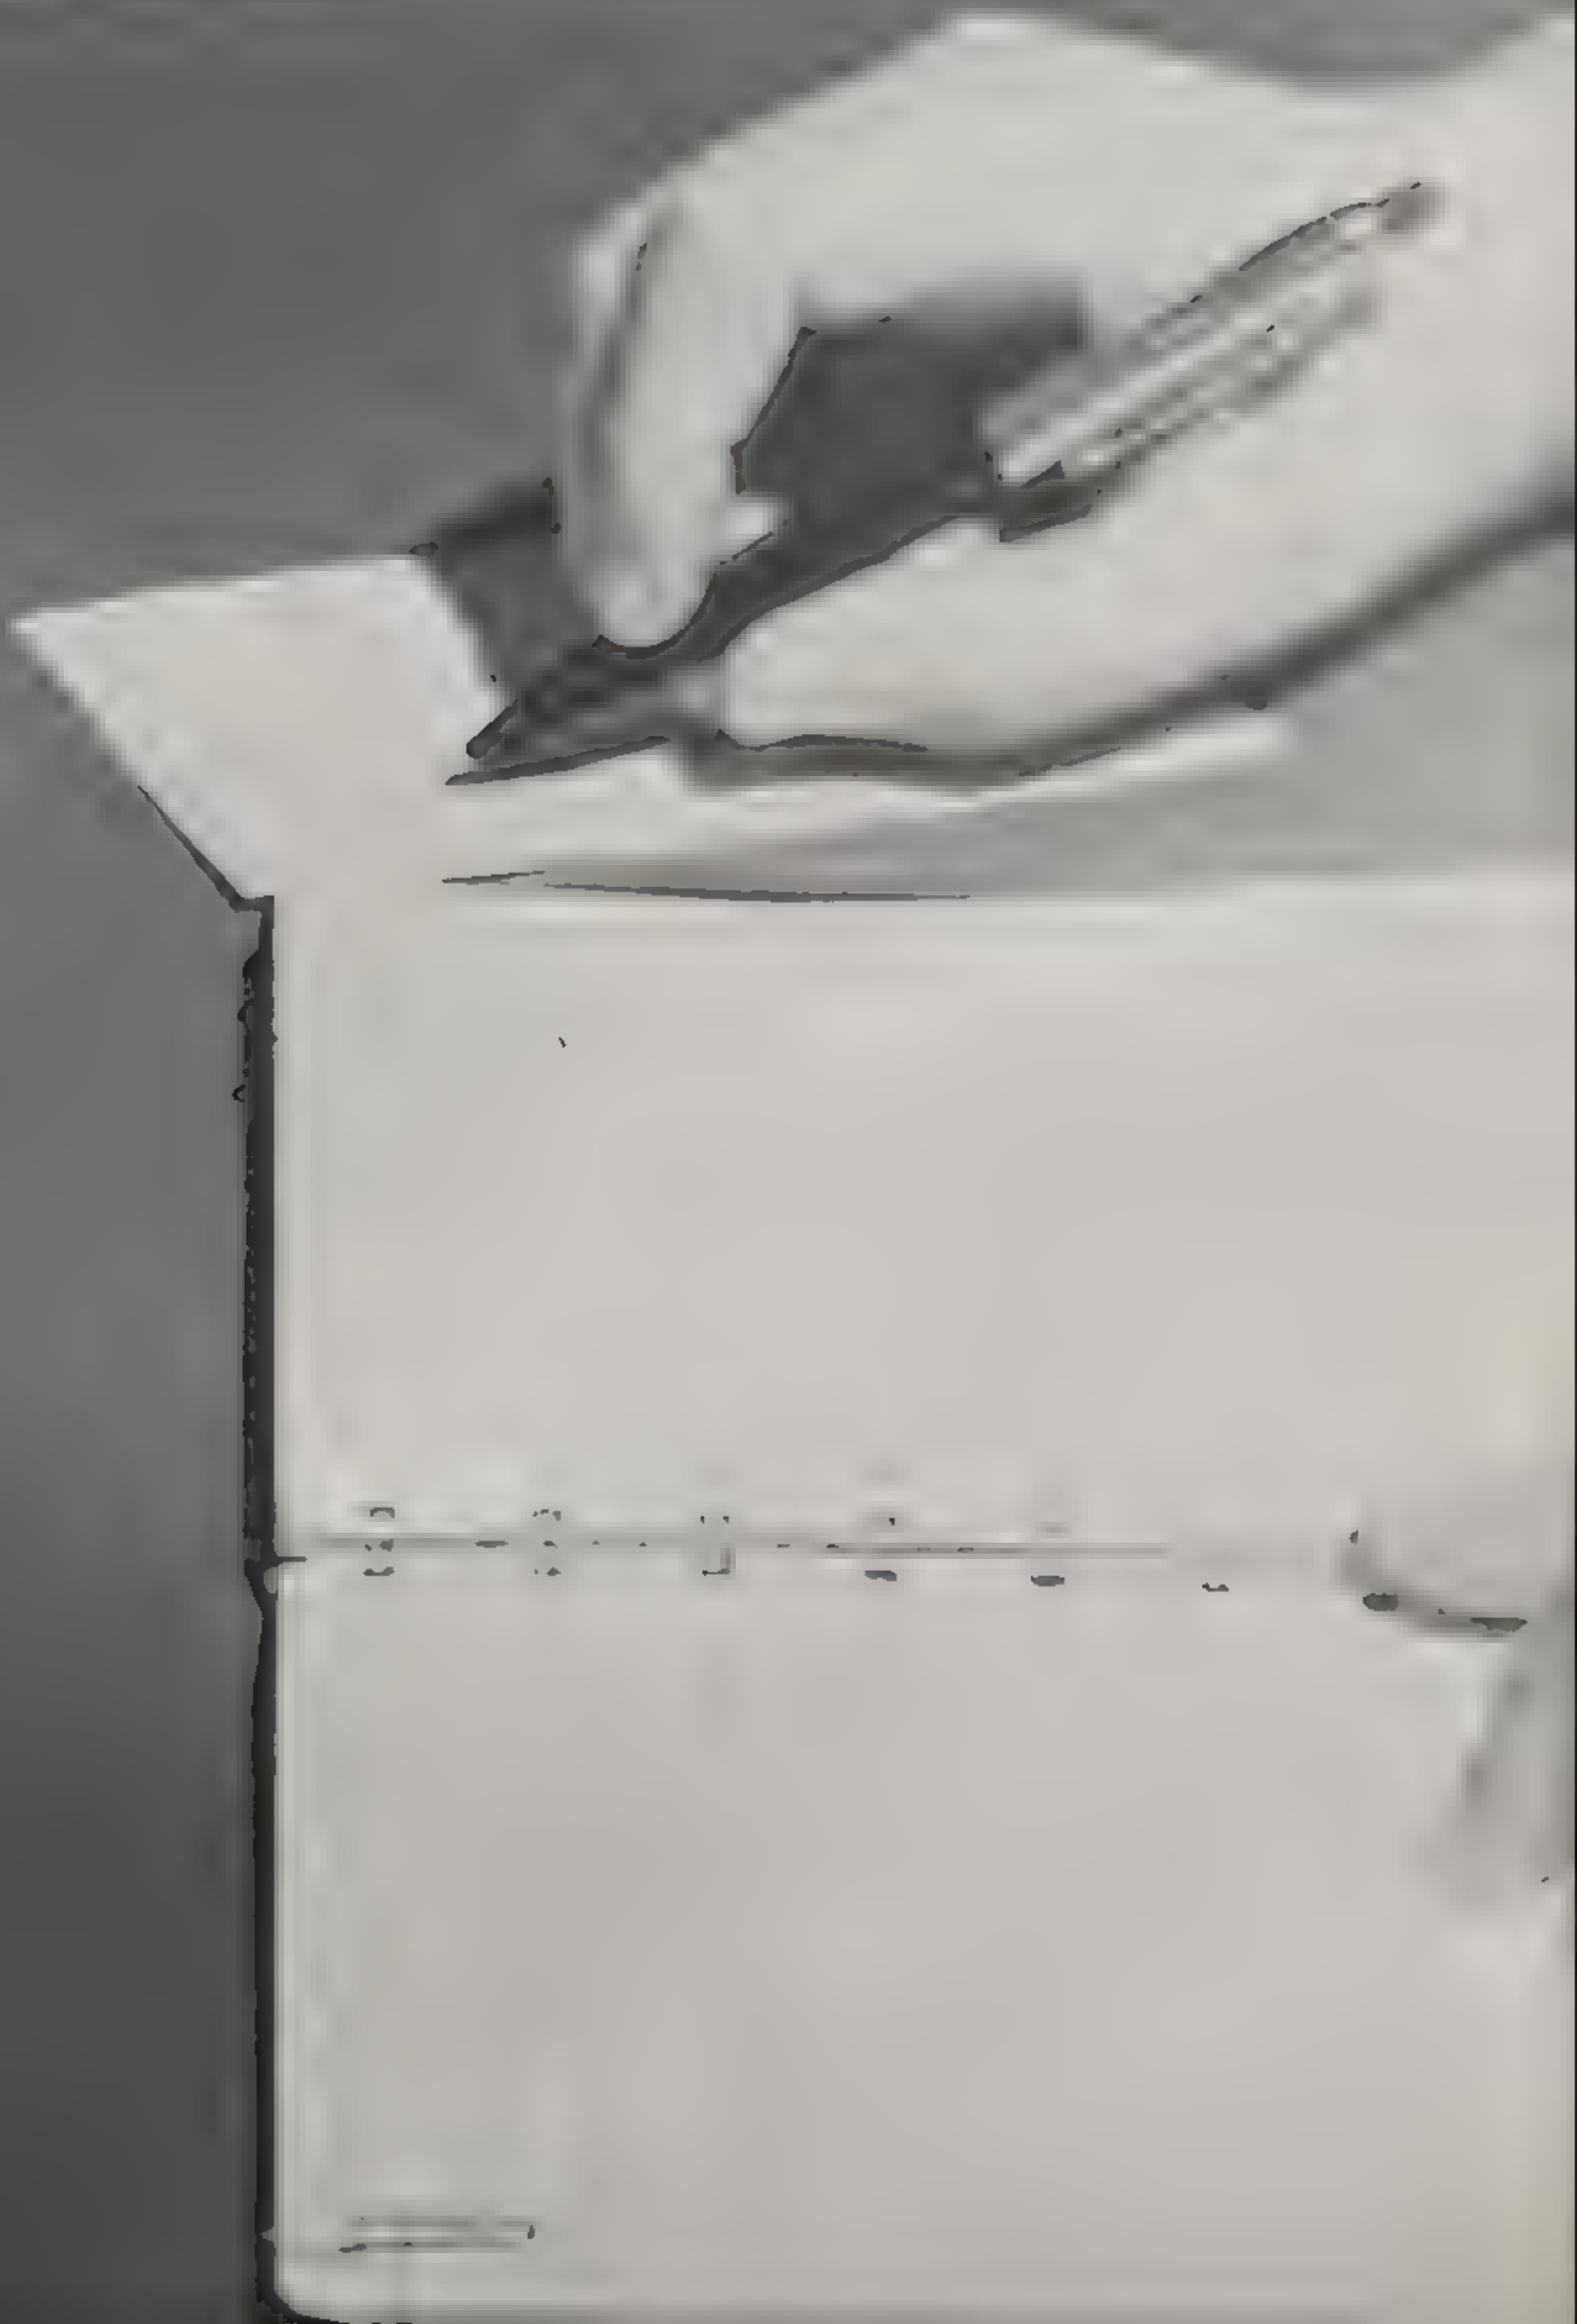

In going through the school and the school year we have worked with our hands, hoping to present a complete record for you to see now and remember always.

A black and white photograph of a yearbook page. The page features a grid of 48 student portraits, arranged in 6 rows and 8 columns. The portraits are of young men and women, likely high school or college students, dressed in formal attire typical of the mid-20th century. The background of the page is light and textured, with the portraits themselves being darker and more detailed. The overall composition is a classic yearbook spread.

Junior-Senior Barn Dance Marks First Social Event of Year

The highlight of the fall season at Linden High, the Junior-Senior Barn Dance, fell on Monday evening. The event was decorated by the Decorating Chair, with the help of junior and senior representatives decorated the gym fully in orange and black with balloons and streamers hanging from the ceiling. The juniors and seniors came dressed in slacks and colorful shirts and blouses. Roger Middlesteadt, senior class president, led the Grand March down to the cafeteria where the refreshment committee, headed by Chairman Hinda Stopeck served doughnuts and cider. After this snack, Donald Coleman, junior class president, led the march back upstairs to the gym.

Shorty Warren provided the music for the dance. He highlighted the evening by imitating Elvis Presley. The students and faculty members participated in the dancing which included both social and square dancing.

At twelve the tired dancers went home, never to forget the memorable evening they had spent at the barn dance.

Seniors provide rollicking music.

Russo Hunts No Hit, No-Run Masterpiece to Lead Tiger

The first of the season was a masterpiece of the art of the no-hit, no-run game. The Tigers, led by the great pitcher, Russo, who was in his best form, defeated the Yankees, 1-0, in a game that was a real test of the pitcher's endurance. Russo, who has been the star of the team since he came to the Tigers, was in perfect command of the ball from the first pitch to the last. He pitched a complete game, and his performance was a real masterpiece. The Yankees, who were the favorites to win the game, were completely out of sync. They were unable to get any runs, and they were unable to get any hits. The game was a real test of the pitcher's endurance, and Russo was in perfect command of the ball from the first pitch to the last.

"Ambassa" The old familiar from the enthusiastic led by the Linden High Cheerleaders. These energetic girls appeared in football and basketball game to lead the school in rallying our teams on to victory. This year the cheerleaders attended a Cheerleading Clinic at South Plainfield High School where they demonstrated their agility in performing skills and exchanged ideas with other cheerleaders. The girls practiced under the direction of Mrs. Pagoulatos and contributed a great deal toward producing school spirit.
